Is our GP service at breaking point?

URGENT action is needed to tackle the drastic shortage of GPs in Haverhill, say residents and town councillors.

The town's three surgeries – Stourview Medical Centre, Dr Selby and Partners, and the combined Christmas Maltings and Clements Surgery – have a total of 18 doctors between them, according to figures supplied by the practices, not including locums.

The possibility of a merger between Stourview Medical Practice and Dr Selby and Partners has sparked fears about how the already stretched service is going to cope.

At a full meeting of Haverhill Town Council on Tuesday, the public called for councillors' help in getting a better service.

Speaking at the meeting, local resident Mary Dunning said: "I am wondering what the town council is going to do to safeguard the patients who use this service."

"In the 21st century we are now having to plan our illnesses. This is how stupid it has got."

DEBRA FOX

Rachel Mack, practice manager at Stourview told the Weekly News last week that they are in discussions with Dr Selby's practice over a "probable merge".

She said: "The most important thing is that the surgery is not closing. We have discussed a probable merge and that is as far as we have got."

"We had not released anything to our patients because we wanted to wait until we had all of the facts."

Patients will be updated on the situation as soon as details are available, Mrs Mack added.

Cllr Betty McLatchy told the meeting she has been in communication with West Suffolk Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) over the possible merger.

The organisation is fighting it, she said. She understood it had been suggested because there is now only one doctor at Stourview and he is "overloaded" with patients, she added.

"It is a national problem – there are no new doctors coming forward," she said.

Edel Pinnock and Sue Jennings, both of Haverhill, also spoke at the meeting to criticise the GP services in the town.

Mr Pinnock, of Coupals Road, said: "I wait a month to see a doctor and it's outrageous – it should not happen."

"The council needs to do something with the residents to demonstrate and put pressure on, and changes should be made. Patients should be able to access their doctors."

Cllr Roger André, town mayor, reassured the public that the town council would be pursuing the matter "urgently" with a number of councillors already asking questions and working with

New orangery open for business at care home

OPEN DAY: Cllr André at Eastcotts Nursing Home on Friday.

A CARE home has created a new orangery to be enjoyed by both residents and guests.

Eastcotts Nursing Home, in Kedington, invited the public in on Friday as part of National Care Home Open Day, which took place across the UK.

Staff coincided the event with the opening of their new orangery, which was attended by Cllr Roger André, town mayor.

He said: "Eastcotts is a shining beacon of how high quality care should look. "The addition of the orangery to the facilities available to residents offers a peaceful area where activities, celebrations and family visits can benefit from a relaxing space with natural vistas." Pupils from Castle Manor Academy also spent time with residents and guests. For more information about Eastcotts contact 01440 762314.

Vision 2031 report due next month

PLANS for the future of Haverhill over the coming decades are now entering their final stages.

A consultation into proposed modifications for the town's Vision 2031 document, suggested by planning inspector Roger Clews, took place in May.

Mr Clews made his recommendations following a public examination, which happened earlier this year.

The planning inspector held a number of informal hearing sessions, where chosen individuals were invited to make representations on certain topics.

Now, St Edmundsbury Borough Council is waiting for the arrival of his final report, which will detail what changes are required to the plan.

A spokeswoman for the borough council said: "The report will be published and the council will make the required amendments and potentially look to adopt it in September, which will be considered with a view to submitting it to full council for adoption as planning policy for the borough.

DEBRA FOX

"The report is expected in July, although we do not yet have a date."

As previously reported, Mr Clews' proposed recommendations to the plans included suggesting a number of town centre sites, such as the back of the Post Office, the old Wisdom Toothbrush site, and part of Gurteens, for retail use.

The allotment site on Duddery Hill was proposed as a further education established – but Mr Clews added that options should be provided for alternative use.

Mr Clews also recommended that the delivery of the north-west relief road, for which planning permission was given earlier this month, would be controlled through a legal ### agreement.

Members of the borough council's Development Control Committee heard in June that delivery of the road would be secured by a bond, and it would have to be finished five years from the start of work on the first home on the north-west development site.

A suggestion which was not made by Mr Clews following the examination was a proposal from Carisbrooke Investments to change the use of land adjacent to Bumpstead Road from business to housing.

The idea to use the former Karro Food Group site, in Wrattling, for housing was also not taken on.

There are also Vision 2031 documents for Bury St Edmunds and the borough's rural areas.

Visit stedmundsbury.gov.uk to view the plans.

E-fit issued after teenage girl pushed up against car

OFFICERS have released a likeness image of a man after a teenage girl was pushed against a car.

The victim, a 15-year-old girl, was walking along Broadcroft Crescent, Haverhill, between 8.40am and 8.50am on June 17, when she was approached by a man who pushed her up against a small green car, believed to be a Nissan.

After speaking to the girl briefly, the offender let her go and left.

The girl then reported seeing the same man and vehicle again the following day, from a distance, at the lower entrance to Broadcroft Crescent.

The offender is described as white, with a tanned complexion and is aged between 30 and 40 years old. He had stubble around the top of his mouth, was wearing a grey hooded jumper with the hood up, a grey body warmer and grey tracksuit bottoms.

He also spoke with an East of England accent.

Anyone with any information should contact PC Will Wright at Haverhill Police Station on 101.

Devastating fire at cottage was caused by log burner

DEBRA FOX AND
ELEANOR DICKINSON

A DEVASTATING fire, which destroyed the thatched roof of a cottage in Withersfield, was started by a log burner, it has been confirmed.

Ten crews from across Cambridgeshire, Essex and Suffolk were called to Twin Cottage, a Grade II listed property, in Turnpike Hill, just before 11am on Sunday.

The fire was under control shortly before 5pm.

Suffolk Fire and Rescue Service have now completed their investigation, and confirmed that the "most likely" cause of the fire was a log burner, which was being used inside the house.

A spokesman said: "The most likely cause of the fire was heat generated by a log burner transmitting via the flue to the chimney and thatched roof, resulting in ignition of the thatched roof."

The burning roof collapsed, spreading flames through the interior of the house.

Volunteers from the Salvation Army also attended the scene to provide refreshments for the 11 firefighters at work.

The house, owned by Rob and Julia Tilson, was on the market for £675,000.

Mr Tilson said a buyer had been found. The sale of the house was in the early stages.

A spokesperson from Carter Jonas said: "We were deeply saddened to hear about the fire at Twin Cottage.

and Keith Jones

"Our sympathies are with the owners at this very difficult time and we are assisting them with the search for rented accommodation."

The property was bought by the current owners in 2008, and described as an "excellent village property" which had been "meticulously maintained" inside and out.

Speaking to the News at the scene of the fire on Sunday, Mr Tilson said: "I'm just glad nobody was hurt."

Anger over GP provision in town

"different bodies".

Cllr Maureen Byrne, deputy mayor, said that they, and the public, need to start "doing things differently" in order to get a response.

She said: "If this means demonstrating outside every doctors' surgery and demanding health care we will. It is not the doctors' faults – it is those who provide the care. We need to be visible."

Matthew Hancock, MP for West Suffolk, said he will do all he can to improve the town's health service – including fighting for ECG and X-ray machines.

"I have taken it up with the health secretary himself, and he has assured me that a solution will be found," he said. "I am also engaging with the local practices, the CCG and the NHS England Area Team. Haverhill is an up and coming town and the patients deserve the best possible care."

A spokeswoman for NHS England confirmed that a request for the two surgeries to merge was received in May from the practices.

She added: "Following due process, approval in principle has been given for the merger subject to the practices undertaking consultation with patients and other key stakeholders."

The merger is supported by the NHS England East Anglia team, to provide "future sustainability" and "continuity of care" for patients, she said.

Meeting over money for Haverhill South ward

AN EVENT to discuss the future of one of Haverhill's wards is taking place next month.

Haverhill South is due to benefit from a £200,000 investment, awarded to the area by the People's Health Trust.

But first, a project, facilitated by Community Action Suffolk, is taking place across the ward to pull together ideas on how the money can be spent.

A "visioning event" will take place in July, where a forum of people, chosen to pull together the suggestions, will present ideas proposed over the last eight weeks.

Once a presentation detailing ideas on spending the funding has been drawn up, it will be sent to the People's Health Trust.

A decision will then be taken on releasing the money.

Gainsborough in Ipswich and Kirkley in Lowestoft have also been chosen to benefit from similar funding.

The People's Health Trust Visioning Event is taking place on July 9, from 6.30pm until 9pm, at Haverhill Fire Station.

We're watching you: shops warn thieves

DEBRA FOX

BUSINESSES in Haverhill town centre are being encouraged to sign up to a scheme to deter shoplifters.

Haverhill Shop Watch has attracted some of the town's largest stores including Aldi, Peacocks, Sainsbury's and Tesco – but SNT sergeant Gary Miller is calling for shops of all sizes to sign up too.

The scheme, which costs around £1.60 a month in subscription fees, operates a secure database, which stores the name and picture of all those banned from shops.

Participating businesses are given door and window stickers to act as a deterrent to thieves. They also receive free security advice and are given the opportunity to network with other businesses.

Sgt Miller said: "It is a self-run scheme and it is down to the shops to decide who they want to ban."

Run entirely by members, and not by police, Shop Watch, allows stores to communicate with each other and warn others if a known shoplifter is seen to be in the town.

Members can also vote to ban a member from all participating shops. There are seven signed up to the Haverhill scheme so far.

Argos, Hendersons and Hughes Electrical are some of those participating.

Sgt Miller added: "It's about us working in partnership to prevent these people coming into shops in the first place."

"It sends out a clear message to those individuals that they are not welcome in the town unless they are coming to buy."

For more information about the Haverhill Shop Watch scheme, and to sign up contact PCSO Les Scott at the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT) on 101.

NEW HOME: Matty is looking for a new owner

Can you help Cats Protection?

A LOCAL animal charity is at full capacity and needs the public's help in rehoming pets.

The Haverhill and Stour Valley branch of the Cats Protection league currently has 16 cats – and only has seven full-time, home-based fosterers.

One of the charity's cats currently looking for a home is Matty, a black and white long-haired male.

A spokeswoman said: "He is very affectionate and friendly with his fosterer and enjoys company. We are looking for the perfect home for Matty where he can get the attention he deserves."

Adoption fee is £55 per cat.

The branch will also be attending this year's Summer Bash, which is on July 20 at the Recreation Ground.

For more information, email contactcats1@gmail.com.

Bid to protect green space

A GREEN lane, which runs along a 10-hectare green space in Haverhill, is going to be nominated to become an asset of community value.

The lane, which is in the north-east of the town, is used for country walks and running trails by the public.

Ian Johnson, who represents a group of 350 residents looking for a 30-hectare extension to East Town Park, asked the town council at their meeting on Tuesday, to take steps in getting it listed.

If the lane became an asset of community value, it would protect the 10-hectare space, which is near to a 20-hectare "buffer zone" between the town and Calford Green.

Mr Johnson, and those he represents, hopes for this 30-hectare space to become the extension for East Town Park.

Speaking at the meeting, he

DEBRA FOX

said: "The planning inspector at the Vision 2031 inquiry has proposed modifications to include a country park in the north-east but has not said how large, or where it should be located."

"By 2031, we will have a 35,000 population in Haverhill – and we will have 60 hectares of country park land less than Bury St Edmunds, with the same population."

The 10-hectare space surrounded by the lane cannot be listed itself because it is not used by the public.

But listing the lane, which runs along two sides of the land, would prevent work in that space.

Cllr Maureen Byrne, deputy mayor, proposed that Cllr Roger André, town mayor, and Colin Poole, town clerk, put forward a bid to get the lane listed.

She said: "I would like to thank Ian and his colleagues for continuing with this campaign – it is so important for the future, and for our children."

The Community Right to Bid scheme provides a grace period, where a building or piece of land on the asset register cannot be sold without giving the community time to enter a bid themselves.

Fellow town councillors also supported Cllr Byrne's bid for the mayor and Mr Poole to take the bid forward to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Working together for the benefit of the town

The Mayor of Haverhill on behalf of Haverhill Town Council will be presenting a petition to St Edmundsbury Borough Council's Council meeting on 30 June. I am surprised, given its wording, by how long it has taken them to gain sufficient (2,500) signatures to do this, and by its implication that St Edmundsbury has somehow taken some of Haverhill's money and should "return it". I am actually delighted that we will have the opportunity to have a formal debate about Haverhill. I hope though, that this debate can focus on the great town of Haverhill, and what we can all do together to make it even better, rather than just about the Town Council whom – like the Chamber of Commerce, Haverhill Association of Voluntary Organisations, Suffolk County Council, ONE Haverhill, the private and voluntary sectors and so many other people and organisations in Haverhill – St Edmundsbury is keen to continue to work with constructively to this end. And, while I do not wish to pre-empt the debate, I look forward to summarising the many things that St Edmundsbury has achieved, is doing, and still hopes to achieve for Haverhill. I will of course leave it for Haverhill Town Council to do the same regarding their achievements and will, if I may (and the editor permits) write again about this, after the debate. Turning to the petition however, this appears to relate to the Council Tax Support Grant that St Edmundsbury (SEBC) grants each year to support Haverhill Town Council (HTC) and does not refer to all the additional funding and support which the borough makes available to Haverhill, which I will cover in the debate. £128,000 is the figure used – however £32,000 a year for two years is more accurate. Some comparison of the charges that we respectively make as part of your Council Tax bills in Haverhill might therefore be helpful by way of background. SEBC's levy or charge to the 'average' (Band D) Haverhill Council Tax payer this year is £175.23 (and because we have frozen this for five out of the last six years it has hardly changed at all). HTC's is £111.75 and was £89.72 five years ago – way higher incidentally than almost any other town or parish council in West Suffolk (the figure for Bury St Edmunds Town Council is £13.50). This has raised over £770, 000 a year for HTC. I believe too that HTC has very considerable reserves but I trust they will quantify this before the debate. While these are just broad background figures, what is much more important is what both councils actually achieve for the people and business in Haverhill, and that we both ensure maximum value for their (tax payers') money. Ten years or more ago, Haverhill might have had reason to feel 'short changed', or not paid enough attention to, by St Edmundsbury Borough Council, which is a very different Council now to what it was then. But this is certainly not the case now, or indeed since I was elected Leader of the Council in 2003 and immediately made 'the development of, and improvements for Haverhill', a St Edmundsbury's top priority for the first time. There is of course always more that needs doing, but Haverhill is a great town with great residents and businesses, a great sense of community... and increasingly a great success story. I believe it is also served by one of the best councils in the country, St Edmundsbury Borough Council, which remains determined to work with others – irrespective of party politics or personal interests – to make things even better in and for Haverhill, and indeed West Suffolk, where it is such an important town. Cllr John Griffiths Leader St Edmundsbury Borough Council

Energies would be better used elsewhere

REGARDING the letter from Cllr McLatchy last week: There has not or never has been a policy of UKIP to try to have dogs banned from Haverhill High Street; it was just one councillor's personal opinion. Instead of mischief-making she should stick to trying to help her residents with the effects of the policies that her Conservative government are bringing in... the bedroom tax and cuts to local health services are causing untold misery to Haverhill residents. It would be better for her energies to be pointed in that direction. Cllr Tony Brown

We all want Haverhill to be a great town

IN reply to Cllr McLatchy (con) in the Weekly News dated June 19th; I am a new councillor who was elected on to the council by the public of our town, Haverhill. Being a local of Haverhill, my main interests are HAVERHILL itself. We were an excellent small market town in the years of my youth, I can see that the town can still be a very good town to live in. I can see, as I am sure a lot of your readers can see, that Haverhill doesn't seem to be getting its fair share of fairness. Government cuts have caused social injustice all over the country, Haverhill being no exception. Health care, housing, transport etc etc. These are things that need to be put right. Dog fouling in the street is a nuisance and all responsible dog owners do use doggy bags. As the people of the town know I am a member of UKIP, and we all want a better town. I have never been to a UKIP meeting where banning dogs from streets has ever been mentioned at all – or anywhere else for that matter. Please Betty do not think that it came from UKIP, it did NOT. We all need to work together as a unit of the town, to make this a good town again, and a great place to live and work etc etc. B.Robbins Town Councillor UKIP

Yes, some more dog bins in town please

I THOUGHT I would write in regarding a few points which were raised in the letters page last week by Councillors Betty McLatchy and Gordon Cox. Betty seems to have let off a bit of steam regarding dogs in the High Street . I have two dogs which I walk up and down the High Street every day and they do behave themselves whilst out and about, but there are some owners who do not do the same. I have witnessed dogs in the street doing a pee – and how do you clear that up exactly? I think she needs to campaign for more dog bins in the High Street as I haven't seen any whatsoever so you have to carry it around with you until you find a suitable dog bin. With reference to the letter 'we need a hospital' by Gordon Cox: Yes, he has hit the nail on the head. We do need a small hospital in Haverhill – it's getting to such a state you need to warn the doctors two months in advance if you're going to be ill in the near future. It's a joke trying to see your GP in Haverhill – the staff at Christmas Maltings scrutinise your ailment when you book an appointment. Cllr Cox also says about our MP Matthew Hancock getting an X-ray machine. Yes, whoopee doo. If he spent as much time devoted to his constituents as he does tweeting messages about other areas in the land he would get my support in the next general election. I have watched the recent SNT meeting online a couple of times now and have come to the conclusion it's a brilliant way to get the police message through to those who cannot attend such a meeting once every three months. The people who give up their time need some credit for what they have done. From what I hear they have dug into their own pockets to film and provide the cameras for such events. But what I don't agree with is that the meeting is now being hijacked by labour town councillors. Can't they just sit back and let the police run their own meeting? Tim Marks makes a good chair and Inspector Ferrie does a great job for the town in his policing role. Tony Adams Shetland Road Haverhill

They just won't listen

I WENT into Barclays last week, having been issued with new set of Barclaycards and a very silly pin number which I could change on the ATM but I also wanted to ask them why they had also supplied me with an American Express card which I had not asked for. All they kept doing was pushing me to the machines and they did not seem to grasp the fact I actually wanted to talk to someone – I never did in the end. I gave up and left. What perturbed me most was the retired couple in front where the bank staff kept on telling them to do all their banking on line and then they would not have to come into town. But they were not listening to the couple who kept trying to tell them we do not have a computer. In the end they left noticeably upset. I wrote to Barclays to complain and got a letter back saying, in not so many words: tough, this is the way we are going. I have been with Barclays' for about 24 years but has made me think about moving to a bank that will actually listen to you. John M Edwards Augustus Close Haverhill

Haverhill Area Working Party discuss the next steps in shaping the future of the town

Masterplan: public to be consulted

A CONSULTATION into a new town centre masterplan is planned for September.

The masterplan, which is being facilitated by ONE Haverhill, will map out the future of the town centre.

It will be consulted on by the public, and then adopted by St Edmundsbury Borough Council as planning policy following a vote.

Ian Poole, place shaping manager, told last week's Haverhill Area Working Party (HAWP) meeting that consultation should start in Autumn, and it could go to a full vote in June 2015.

Councillors expressed their anger at the time it has taken the plan to progress – with Cllr Anne Gower hailing Haverhill as the “consultation capital of the world”.

Ian Gallin, chief executive of St Edmundsbury reassured councillors that the masterplan will not be run by planners, but by the community.

Cllr Maureen Byrne asked for consultation not to take place solely online, but appeal to all residents. She also suggested that HAWP makes a recommendation on the plan to cabinet, before the full decision.

'Time to stop talking and start spending'

DEBRA FOX

COUNCILLORS are calling for money earmarked for Haverhill's growth strategy to be spent on improving the town – now.

At a meeting of the Haverhill Area Working Party (HAWP), held at Samuel Ward Academy last Thursday, an update was given by officers on how money designated to the town has been spent to date.

As a borough, St Edmundsbury was given £5 million by central Government for growth. Of this, £1.85 million went to Haverhill.

Three-quarters of a million pounds was earmarked for “improvements to the high street” – most of which still has not been spent, it was revealed.

Ian Poole, place shaping manager, told councillors that the money was still

DISAPPOINTED: Cllr Byrne

NO FAITH: Cllr André

available to spend but that work was underway on the town centre masterplan, which affects more than the High Street.

Councillors said action should be taken now.

Cllr Maureen Byrne, deputy mayor and HAWP member, said: “The High Street is a mess and there's all this money sitting around and decisions aren't being made. “You can understand why people think they are second class citizens.”

Cllr Roger André, town mayor, was also at the meeting.

Speaking afterwards, he said: “Of the £750,000 allocated for High Street improvement, some has already been wasted on fruitless surveys and consultations.”

“With a further delay of another year, we have no confidence in the borough council to deliver any real improvement.”

“Growth funding was intended to support improvements to the infrastructure, and Haverhill Research Park has demonstrated how this can be effective.”

More than £150,000 of Haverhill's allocated funding was earmarked for the housing development at Millfields Way, and £50,000 was put aside for the Conservation Area Partnership Project.

A portion of the money went towards “green infrastructure” in the town which included improvements around the golf course, the Wilsey Estate and Jubilee Park.

A further £750,000 went towards Haverhill Research Park in the form of a loan. This has now been paid back by Carisbrooke Investments.

Update on research park progress

BUILDING: How the centre could look

A FOUR-storey innovation centre should be complete by September next year.

The innovation centre, called The Epicentre, will be the “hub” of Haverhill Research Park and operate 24 hours a day.

Nic Rumsey, director of Carisbrooke Investments, visited last week's Haverhill Area Working Party (HAWP) meeting to update councillors on the site's progress.

More than 100 new homes, a Montessori nursery and large office spaces are also going to be built on the site – with some businesses already expressing an interest in signing up.

Mr Rumsey said: “The community really is our middle man – we want this site to succeed. We have got to be involved in everything.”

As previously reported, planning permission for the centre was granted last week.

RESPECTS: Ceremony to mark Armed Forces Day in Haverhill

Paying respects to armed forces

THE mayor of St Edmundsbury attended a short service in Haverhill this week to mark Armed Forces Day. Cllr Robert Everitt was joined by local councillors and members of the public for a flag-raising ceremony at the Plaza, in front of the town's leisure centre on Monday afternoon.

Cllr Roger André, town mayor, and Cllr Maureen Byrne, deputy mayor, were also in attendance. A ceremony also took place in Bury St Edmunds.

Cllr Everitt said: "We have a long and proud association with the Armed Forces; the Royal Anglian Regiment, RAF Honington and Wattisham Airfield are all very closely linked with St Edmundsbury."

Homes plan for former club site

EIGHT three-bedrooms homes could be built on a brownfield site in Haverhill.

A planning application has been entered for the homes on the site of the town's former Conservative club and car park on Western Way.

The application, entered by NDR Contracting Ltd, of Barnston, also sets out plans to create 20 parking spaces alongside the new houses.

A previous application for the development, entered in November 2013, was refused at the beginning of this year – despite support for a pre-application inquiry.

The refusal notice detailed concerns about noise, impact on the highways network, and how "cramped" the designs were.

There was also no affordable housing included in the original plan.

DEBRA FOX

A design and access statement for the fresh application, written by Gary Treadwell, architect, states: "We consider that the density & form of development proposed is very much in keeping with the surrounding properties, and makes best use of this 'brownfield' site providing much needed family homes in the area."

"The development would sit comfortably in the 'streetscene' and have an enhancing impact on the area."

There will be two blocks of semi-detached houses which are two storeys high, and two blocks which are 2.5 storeys high.

Each home will also have its own "garden amenity area" and two parking spaces, if planning permission is granted.

Solar panels are proposed for the roofs of the properties – one of which will be affordable.

The former club, which would be demolished if planning permission is granted, has been hailed as a "health and safety hazard" in the design and access statement.

It said: "The former clubhouse which remains on the site is dilapidated and rapidly decaying, representing a health and safety hazard to local residents."

"The carpark and external areas have become overgrown and could become a target site for the travelling community."

Fun at international-themed church fayre

A SUMMER fayre held at St Felix Church last weekend celebrated international flavours.

The fayre, which was raising money to repay a loan for the new church, was enjoyed by parents and children alike with a bouncy castle and a raffle for entertainment.

There was also a range of refreshments on offer, including dishes from Malawi, Zambia, Kenya, Zimbabwe and the Philippines.

Cllr Roger André, town mayor, and Cllr Maureen Byrne, deputy mayor, who took part in the raffle by drawing the winning tickets, attended the fayre on Saturday.

First prize was free accommodation for a week in a furnished apartment in Funchal, Madeira. There were also cash prizes up for grabs.

The fayre raised more than £1,600 – double the amount of last year.

Council: get on your bike everyone!

A CELEBRATION of cycling is taking place across Suffolk this month.

Suffolk County Council hopes to increase the number of adults who cycle regularly every week. Currently, this figure is at 13 per cent.

The council's new cycle strategy, launched last week, highlights any health benefits associated with cycling and promises to create a safe environment for cycling.

Cllr Graham Newman, cabinet member for roads, transport and planning, said: "We have increasing pressure on our road network and want to encourage people to take to their bikes and enjoy the many benefits that this form of transport has to offer."

"When the culture of cycling is fully integrated into our communities, people will have every opportunity to make this a healthier, less congested and safer county in the years to come."

The county council's public health team has joined up with Live Well Suffolk, Suffolk Sport, East Coast Community Healthcare to encourage residents to sign up for a three-week cycle challenge.

The challenge is running until July 4. Visit

ART WORK: Edel Pinnock and his work at East Town Park countryside centre.

Enjoy Edel's work at East Town Park

A COLLECTION of more than 40 paintings and sculptures has been on display in Haverhill this week.

The work, created by Edel Pinnock, of Couplars Road, will remain on display until tomorrow at the East Town Park countryside centre.

The collection of water colours, oil paintings, pastels and acrylics show floral scenes, scenes of Europe and the English countryside.

Mr Pinnock held his last exhibition in 2009, to raise money for the oncology unit at Addenbrooke's.

The artist studied at the Cambridge College of Art and Technology, and previously taught at Comberton Village College.

The exhibition runs from 10am until 5pm. Entry is free, and there is also a free car park near to the countryside centre.

Get ready for motor show

VINTAGE vehicles and retro cars are still being sought for Haverhill's first ever motor show next month.

The event, which will be held on the same weekend as the town's annual transport rally, will take place on the market square, alongside the weekly traders.

Sharon Fairweather, who was appointed as market development officer for West Suffolk earlier this year, has said that they want to integrate new events into the already existing market.

She said: "Local buskers will be there providing some music so hopefully it will be a lovely day with some great atmosphere."

Motor enthusiasts will also be able to attend the town's transport rally, which takes place the day after the motor show, to take in range of vehicles on offer.

Participating motors will also take part in a road run, through the surrounding villages and back into Haverhill.

The motor show is on Saturday, July 12 from 10am until 3pm, followed by the transport rally on Sunday, July 13, from 10am until 5pm.

Both events are free to attend.

If you want to take part in the motoshow, contact Miss Fairweather on sharon.fairweather@westsuffolk.gov.uk. You can also call 01284 757093.

NEWS IN BRIEF

New commander for region

A NEW policing commander for West Suffolk has been appointed.

Supt Andrew Mason will be responsible for policing in Forest Heath, St Edmundsbury, Mid Suffolk and Babergh districts.

He is taking over from Spt Terry Byford, who has moved on to the position of Superintendent Operations.

Supt Mason was previously inspector for Haverhill, but moved to Ipswich in 2011.

He said: "Suffolk is a really safe place to be but I also know people need to feel safe so I will ensure we have a highly visible police presence in our communities and that the service we deliver is of the highest quality."

"I really want the public to have confidence in Suffolk Constabulary to keep them safe and that if they do have an interaction with us in any way they are left feeling really satisfied that we have done a good job."

Award for Haverhill Special

AN OFFICER at Haverhill Police has been given an award for leadership.

Special Inspector David Howse, who has served for five years, was recognised with the First For Leadership - Taking Responsibility for Action award.

This is awarded to people who are "confident in their own abilities and prepared to make decisions, implement actions and accept responsibility for the outcomes".

Special Inspector Howse received his award at the Suffolk Constabulary Annual Awards Ceremony yesterday.

Deputy Chief Constable Paul Marshall said: "Members of the Special Constabulary are a group of volunteers who dedicate some of their spare time towards helping to keep Suffolk safe."

"They are valued members of the police force and provide a vital link between Suffolk Police and the community."

FUNDRAISER: Theresa Spittle and 100-year-old Kath Scott.

Cream teas for hospice funds

AN AFTERNOON of tea and scones has raised more than £700 for a hospice charity.

The event, organised by Theresa Spittle, lady captain at Haverhill Gold Club, was attended by 90 people on Saturday.

Guests also enjoyed live music from Jade Donno, and took part in a raffle and "guess the sweets" competition.

Theresa and the ladies' section committee decorated the room in the style of a vintage tea party.

She said: "We never dreamed that this would be so successful as we had originally hoped for 25 to 30 people."

The event's oldest guest was Kath Scott, who celebrated her 100th birthday in January this year.

Play area to be upgraded in September

Recreation ground work has been put back

AN UPGRADE to Haverhill recreation ground is now going to take place after the school holidays.

A total of £70,000 is going to be spent on providing a redesigned park area and new equipment at the town's green space.

But following a consultation into the project, held in April at Haverhill Arts Centre, the work has been put back until September.

It was hoped that the transformation would start before the school holidays, but has been delayed due to responses received during the consultation.

A spokeswoman for the borough council said: "When we originally went out to consultation, we believed the scheme proposed could be delivered during the early part of the summer, just prior to the school holiday period."

"However, as a result of that consultation, the scheme has now been extended and rather than interrupt the enjoyment of the current facilities during the holidays, we are now looking to start work in September."

DEBRA FOX

During consultation, a need for new lighting was highlighted by a local councillor, the spokeswoman added.

This will be included on a new path and cycle route through the recreation ground, to be installed by Suffolk County Council as part of the work.

The funding for the project was allocated in the council's 2012 Leisure Asset Review.

Cllr Sarah Stamp, cabinet member for leisure, hailed the project as an "investment in more than equipment and landscaping".

She added: "It is about the future health and well being of Haverhill's families and I am sure it will be welcomed and well used."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Get help with devices

RESIDENTS can now get help with using their electronic devices.

A series of courses are starting at Haverhill library to educate the public on using eReaders, iPads, iPhones and other devices.

An introduction session for iPads and iPhones, aimed at those who are not confident in using them, is running on July 9 from 2pm until 4pm.

Another session, for eReaders, is on July 16 from 2pm until 4pm.

Following the introductions, a follow on course for the devices is scheduled to take place on July 23, from 2pm and 4pm. This is for anyone who has attended an introductory course, and would like to develop their skills.

Each course costs £10. Contact the library on 01440 702638.

Share your views on health

A SERIES of health events are taking place across West Suffolk over June and July.

West Suffolk Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) will visit Haverhill, Brandon, Mildenhall and Newmarket to collate local people's views on how services should change.

The successful Haverhill health directory is going to be revamped, and similar documents are going to be released across the other towns.

They provide a guide to local health services, leisure facilities, local authorities and emergency services.

An event is taking place at Haverhill's Summer Bash on July 20, for residents to attend.

A second health review, on urgent care, is also taking place across Suffolk. Residents can also share their thoughts on NHS 111, out of hours GPs, dental and community health services.

You can also submit your views via email on getinvolved@westsuffolkccg.nhs.uk.

DEBRA FOX

VOLUNTEERS who can provide companionship to those over 65 are being sought for a new project.

A new befriending service, which has already celebrated success in Newmarket, is being launched in Haverhill this month.

Run by the Voluntary Network and Age UK Suffolk, the new service aims to support older people who may be feeling lonely and isolated.

Terri Hardy, Befriending Co-ordinator, said: "Our service provides a lifeline to many vulnerable people in our community – it can make a massive difference to people and greatly improve their sense of well-being."

Referrals for the scheme can be made by GPs, health professions and social services – as well as family members. Self-referrals can also be made.

Clients, who must be aged

over 65, interested in using the scheme will be visited at their home, and have the service explained to them. The client will then be paired with an appropriate volunteer.

Volunteers will only be able to visit clients in their home, to provide company.

Terri added: "The scheme is a link to the outside world, and something that people really look forward to."

The new service is incorporating the existing Befriending Scheme in Haverhill. For more information, and if you want to be a volunteer contact Terri on 01638 608048.

Meet the life-savers

David Halsey, of Haverhill Community First Responders, tells DEBRA FOX how they desperately need more volunteers

WORKING HARD: David Halsey and Beryl Kicks, who train the first responders

"HE tapped me on the shoulder and thanked me for saving his life."

"The best thing when you deal with a cardiac arrest is knowing you have brought someone back, and they can come and tap us on the shoulder."

David Halsey is not a paid paramedic – he is the co-ordinator for Haverhill Community First Responders.

He, along with seven other voluntary colleagues, provides emergency cover for the town and its surrounding villages when someone dials 999.

"Some people don't even remember us," says David.

"They recognise our face, but don't know where they remember us from – it is a voluntary role, and we give as much as we can."

David, of Victoria Road, joined the group three years ago, and two years ago took over the role of group co-ordinator.

Some of his responsibilities include organising fundraising and attracting new recruits.

Despite having only eight people on the team, the Haverhill Community First Responders covered 68 per cent of all hours in 2013, attending 382 calls.

First responders choose the hours they give to the scheme depending on their commitments outside of the role.

David, 35, is also the vice chairman for Haverhill Rugby Club and works full time as a UK sales manager.

He said: "I try and log on for a full 48 hours over a weekend. When I can do it, I will."

"We try to cover the town for 24 hours a day, seven days a week – but we need a lot more volunteers to build it up."

"We average about 65 per cent cover a month."

David has said that an ideal number of first responders to have on the team would be 15 – and is urging local people to sign up and join them.

The team can get called out to attend patients with breathing problems as well as those suffering from a stroke, diabetes-related complications and cardiac arrests.

First responders have the right to turn down a call, because they work on a voluntary basis, and can also be "stood down" from a call by the East of England Ambulance Service Trust if a paramedic and vehicle arrive first.

Currently, David and the team are trying to raise money to pay for public access defibrillators to be installed across the town.

All of the fundraising done by the group goes back into the community, David added.

He said: "We are a registered charity and we need the community to get behind us."

"At the end of the day, we are vital to the ambulance service to help and get care into the community."

Throughout the whole of July, The Plough at Hundon is supporting the group with two special dishes on the menu.

A £1 from each dish ordered will go straight to the group. There will also be collection tins in the pub.

To be a first responder, you need to be aged between 18 and 70, be physically fit and agree to a Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) check.

Charity cycle challenge for hospital

STAFF from Suffolk Housing have raised more than £4,000 for West Suffolk Hospital after a mammoth cycle challenge.

Fourteen cyclists covered 171 miles, visiting key housing schemes across East Anglia.

Their pedal power, which was put to the test in honour of Suffolk Housing's 40th anniversary, made £4,200 for the hospital's neonatal unit.

Ian Winslet, chief executive at Suffolk Housing, said: "The cycle ride was a fantastic opportunity to get out into the fresh air, enjoy Suffolk's wonderful countryside and tour some of our key schemes while raising important funds for the hospital.

"We are extremely grateful for all of the support we have received so far, which will make a real difference to premature babies and other newborns using West Suffolk's neonatal unit."

Being Blunt

THE problem with James Blunt is, one moment you're warming to him and the next he's telling you how BMW offered him a car for a year to feature it in one of his videos.

Blunt's always been a bit of an odd one. Since his crooning 2004 breakthrough single, You're Beautiful, press coverage has swerved wildly – as has public opinion. Mums love him, for teenage girls he's guilty-pleasure fodder only, if at all, and for anyone else dumb enough to care about what people think of their music taste, he's laughable.

It's almost too easy to slate him: there's the plummy accent, the yacht parties, the bikini-clad girls, the saccharine ballads, the silly lyrics, the Ibiza villa complete with basement club ("Blunty's Nightclub Where Everybody's Beautiful" – seriously), the awkward TV appearances... I could go on.

But he's had an unexpected turnaround in the last year. It started with the release of the dangerously catchy Bonfire Heart from his fourth album, Moon Landing, and it took on a whole life of its own once Blunt got his mitts on Twitter. He's been trolling his trolls, and it's absolutely brilliant. The guy is certifiably funny – who'd have thought it? When we speak – ostensibly about his return to Newmarket Nights (his uncle once ran the Jockey Club grounds as an estate manager) – he's just landed in Darwin, Australia on his world tour and tends towards being both sparing with words, and diplomatically restrained in his answers.

"I had one song that was seriously overplayed and when a song gets overplayed it becomes annoying, and then people associate the artist with that same word," he explains pointedly when asked why he thinks he's been the butt of so much negativity.

Is he still fond of the track in question, You're Beautiful? There's a weighty pause before he replies with a protracted "Yeah": "That's the cornerstone of my career. It'd be a much smaller world tour without it; it'd be a tour of North London. Haha."

The man born James Hillier Blount in Wiltshire 40 years ago has sold more than 17 million albums and 20 million singles, and still can't walk down the street in Europe without being hounded by grabby fans but he seems strangely bemused by the fact his music strikes such a chord with a certain chunk of listeners: "I think I spend a lot of time trying to get the songs right when I'm writing them so they're just genuine and honest and they mean something to me and hopefully perhaps people connect with them because of that."

Not much of a thinker you might conclude but Blunt becomes far less brief when it comes to his haters and trolls – and how he deals with them.

"If someone calls me a one-hit wonder, it's worth reminding them that they're a none-hit wonder," he laughs shrilly. "I wouldn't say I'm hitting back, I'm just laughing at the way we all take it so seriously. Twitter is just an opinion-based platform. To focus on any one opinion and take it to heart is silly."

"Even the fact that Twitter makes the news is mad really because it's some guy on his own in his bedroom probably with his trousers round his ankles firing off nasty words."

"But I play a concert at Newmarket say, where there'll be 20,000 people who will turn up, some of them will have bought albums, they definitely bought those tickets, they might have booked hotels and trains to get there and some of them will have queued up outside and yet we focus not on the 20,000 but on the guy on his own at home who couldn't even be bothered to pull his trousers up from round his ankles to say he didn't like my songs."

Summer of music

WE are on the brink of this year's Cambridge News-backed Cambridge Summer Music Festival.

Promising a varied series of concerts in the likes of King's College Chapel, churches, cobbled courtyards and the Fitzwilliam Museum, you'll be able to dip into choral works, chamber pieces and intimate solo recitals, jazz concerts, world music and a full programme for children.

The festival marks the 100th anniversary of the start of the First World War, and has taken as its theme 'brief lives'.

Concerts will feature many works by many composers and poets whose lives and talents were cut short – including composer George Butterworth and poets Rupert Brooke and Wilfred Owen – and others who were deeply affected by the Great War, such as Edward Elgar and Ivor Gurney.

An elegiac and reflective tone will be set at the opening Festival Chorus concert, when singers from all over East Anglia come together to perform at King's College Chapel under international choral conductor John Rutter.

Fauré's exquisite Requiem, Vaughan Williams' other-worldly Serenade to Music and Barber's Adagio will feature.

Other concerts will explore war themes explicitly. In what promises to be a moving recital, entitled In Flanders Fields, English baritone Roderick Williams and pianist Gary Matthewman build their programme on aspects of war, ranging from its so-called 'nobility' to the horror of life in the trenches and the devastating effects of war.

Pianist Maria Marchant takes 'Conflict and Memories' as the theme of her solo recital, which features Ravel's Le Tombeau de Couperin and Debussy's Berceuse Héroïque (1914), including bugle fanfares calling soldiers to war, and his Élégie (1915), composed to pay tribute to the women's war effort.

Pianist Lucy Parham and actor Henry Goodman will present a fascinating words-and-music programme, Rêverie: The Life and Loves of Claude Debussy.

Set in Paris in 1918, the First World War is the backdrop for the composer's life story, told in his own words.

Other well-known names gracing this year's festival include charismatic Natalie Clein in the finale concert.

She will perform alongside pianist Katya Apekisheva and violinist Fredrik Paulsson.

Festival favourites, the Aurora Orchestra, joined by Thomas Gould's new group Man Overboard, will showcase music from the sparkling swing era of the 1920s and 30s and, returning by popular demand, 4 Girls, 4 Harps will present four virtuoso harpists in full flight, all 40 fingers flying.

There will also be a healthy smattering of jazz, folk and world music.

Festival newcomers, the Vocalis Chamber Choir from Buffalo, New York, exemplify this diversity in a choral programme that ranges from Palestrina and Byrd, via traditional American hymns and spirituals, to Dolly Parton.

Then there's the Mayor's Concert with jazz singer Jacqui Dankworth.

■ We have more HAVERHILL FESTIVAL events this week including THE COUNTERFEIT SIXTIES on Saturday 28 June at 7.30pm. Relive the sounds of the swinging sixties with a show that brings alive the magic of over twenty five bands of that era. We're hot to rock from 7.30pm.

■ The UK's leading constitutional historian DAVID STARKEY talks about THE TUDORS AND US on Thursday 3 July at 8pm. Known for his forthright views, he talks about the period he describes as 'the most glorious soap opera, with the whole future of countries turning on what these huge personalities felt like when they got out of bed in the morning'.

■ IAN SHAW joins the HANNAH HORTON QUARTET on Friday 4 July for The All That Jazz Club at 8pm. Ian has been described as one of the most distinctive, original and creative jazz singers that the UK has produced, as well as being a talented pianist and song writer. A date not to miss.

■ On the cinema front, likeable midlife comedy THE LOVE PUNCH (12A) is showing on Monday 30 June at 1.30pm. Starring Pierce Brosnan and Emma Thompson.

■ Reel Culture YVES SAINT LAURENT (15) is showing on Monday evening at 7.30pm. Jilil Lesper's biopic of the charismatic designer who battled personal demons as he democratised fashion in the swinging sixties is handsomely staged and brilliantly acted.

■ Finally TRACKS (12A) on Wednesday 2 July at 7.30pm, is the remarkable true story of Robyn Davidson, a young woman who leaves her life in the city to make a solo trek through almost 2000 miles of sprawling Australian desert. Accompanied by only her dog and four unpredictable camels, she sets off on a life-changing journey of self-discovery.

■ This year's Open Air Family Theatre at East Town Park is ALICE The Musical on Friday 4 July at 6pm. Come and have a joyful, fun-filled picnic with your family while you watch this hilarious musical show. Don't forget to bring your picnic chairs/blankets and a possible umbrella. Boys and girls are invited to come along dressed in their best Wonderland fashion. Before the show there is a 45 minute drama workshop where children aged 5-10 can play drama games with the actors of the Cambridge Touring Theatre, who are all as mad as hatters!

CHEF (15, 114 mins)

IF food be the music of love then Chef composes a mouth-watering symphony of Cuban flavours to delight the palate of World Cup-weary audiences, who crave a heart-warming drama garnished with gentle humour.

Written and directed by Jon Favreau, this uplifting confection works to a tried and tested recipe of triumph against adversity, and taps into the rising popularity of food trucks as a lunchtime hang-out for famished American office workers.

Snappily edited scenes of high-quality produce being transformed into plates of calorie-loaded deliciousness make any hot dogs, nachos and popcorn from the concessions stand look bland by comparison.

Be grateful that the Smell-O-Vision and AromaRama systems, which heightened the immersive experience of films by releasing scents into the theatre, never gained traction otherwise Chef's 114-minute running time would be exquisite, stomach-rumbling agony.

By the end credits, my appetite was well and truly whetted for one of the film's Cubano pressed sandwiches filled with juicy roast pork, boiled ham and molten Swiss cheese.

The culinary wizard responsible for this raging hunger is Carl Casper (Favreau), who is the star attraction at a Los Angeles restaurant owned by Riva (Dustin Hoffman).

Prestigious food critic Ramsey Michel (Oliver Platt), who reportedly sold his online blog for $10 million, makes a reservation at the restaurant and Carl excitedly plans a new tasting menu with sous chef Tony (Bobby Cannavale), line cook Martin (John Leguizamo) and sassy hostess Molly (Scarlett Johansson).

"You know what I would do? Play your hits," argues Riva and he forces Carl to revert to his signature dishes.

Ramsey's poor review, which berates Carl for resting on his laurels, ignites a bitter war of words on Twitter.

"You wouldn't know a good meal if it sat on your face!" the chef informs Ramsey.

Their argument spirals out of control and Carl publicly quits his job.

Ex-wife Inez (Sofia Vergara) invites Carl to accompany her and their young son Percy (Emjay Anthony) to Miami to reconnect with his roots.

In familiar surroundings, Carl entertains

Inez's canny suggestion of a food truck and the chef transforms a worn-out vehicle into a mobile eatery par excellence with help from Percy and Martin.

Chef wears its heart on its olive oil-spattered sleeve, establishing an emotional divide between Carl and his son, which might be bridged as they spend valuable time together on the road.

Social media assumes a pivotal role in the script and Favreau employs sparing visual effects to illustrate how Percy builds word of mouth for the food truck by harnessing the power of the internet.

Favreau and Anthony are an adorable pairing, and Robert Downey Jr injects ribald humour to his fleeting scenes as Inez's germ-phobic first ex-husband. Heartfelt scenes of confession and reconciliation ensure tears flow as freely as the overpriced vino from Riva's cellar.

A taste of summer

IMAGINE stepping out on to your patio to pick fresh herbs for your cooking – from fragrant basil to accompany ripe tomatoes and mozzarella, coriander to sprinkle on spicy curries and salads, mint to add to your Pimm's or rosemary to sprinkle over lamb chops on the barbecue. Sounds idyllic doesn't it?

Fresh herbs are such a staple in today's kitchens, yet the shop-bought ones so often end up wilting on the windowsill before you've had time to use them.

If you are planning a herb garden or a group of herbs in pots, place them near the kitchen where they are easily accessible. A small collection can be planted in a cartwheel pattern, or even in a planter with separate pockets, each segment planted with a different herb.

On a larger scale, a bed can be divided into segments, each for a different herb, fringed with a dwarf hedge such as lavender to define the edges.

Formal herb gardens are traditionally round or square, often with a clipped low-growing hedge around the outside and something bigger, such as a bay in a large pot or a sundial or birdbath, in the middle, with a mixture of herbs filling the space.

Informal herb gardens are easier to tend to as you can mix the herbs to include both perennials and annuals, adding plants such as lavender and foxgloves to give the area a bit more colour.

When planting a border of herbs, place the tallest at the back so they don't shade out the smaller ones. Angelica grows up to 2m (6ft) and will self-seed freely. Mint and lemon balm are invasive so should be planted in pots or buckets in the ground so their roots are confined and don't swamp other less vigorous plants.

Groups of symmetrically arranged raised beds provide an easy and attractive way to cultivate a wide range of herbs without having to tread on soil, plus you can cater for the soil and watering needs of different herbs.

You can just as easily grow pots of herbs on your patio or in a windowbox in the right situation and with the right soil.

Most herbs used for cooking and for their fragrance are natives of the Mediterranean and do best in warm sunny conditions in well-drained soil, with added grit.

Those in containers may need daily watering in hot weather but some, such as basil, will resent going to bed at night with wet leaves or sodden compost, so water in the morning before they are in direct sunlight.

Many herbs don't like rich, moisture-retentive growing conditions, so you'll need to give them what they need. Coriander doesn't like being crowded and won't thrive in cool conditions, parsley is greedy and requires a rich, moisture-retentive soil, while thyme prefers poor, very well-drained soil.

Basil likes warmth and shelter but won't do well in searing sun, so grow it in pots of soilless potting compost in semi shade.

Remove the flowers from shortlived leafy herbs such as chervil and basil to keep them growing longer and from coriander and dill if you don't want seeds but would rather have the leaves.

Before too long, you should be able to pick aromatic, flavoursome herbs from your garden rather than veering towards the wilting leaves of the shop-bought ones on your windowsill.

Estate agency supporting St Nicholas Hospice Care

ESTATE agency CXG has recently formed a partnership with St Nicholas Hospice Care. James Pilley, of CXG (pictured, far right, with, left to right, Abby Mayes from St Nicholas Hospice Care, Tom Archer, CXG Lettings Manager and Angela Davies also of CXG) said: "As we are a local community company (, we feel it is important for businesses such as ourselves to give back as much as they can to help those who need it the most in our community. This is why we have chosen St Nicholas Hospice Care as our charity, and plan on raising funds throughout the year to support them as much as we can."

CXG will be donating two per cent of their estate agency fees, and £25 from each new rental letting they take on to the charity, and will be taking part in this year's accumulator challenge which involves raising as much money as possible with a £50 note, as well as holding events to involve the local community.

The Hospice provides practical, medical and spiritual support to local people and their families living with an illness that is life-threatening, such as cancer, multiple sclerosis, motor neurone disease, heart or lung disease. The care they provide is given by a multi-disciplinary team, which can include consultants, doctors, social workers, psychologists, occupational therapists, nurses, complementary therapists and physiotherapists. People receive support either in the Hospice or in their place of residence, or both, and in a variety of ways. Abby Mayes from the charity said: "We're delighted that CXG has decided to support St Nicholas Hospice Care by nominating us as its chosen charity this year. It's especially timely considering the recent opening of our new outreach centre in Haverhill, and the Hospice's 30th anniversary."

MX-5's silver celebrations

AS part of the MX-5's 25th birthday celebrations, Mazda has released a limited edition version of its iconic roadster.

The MX-5 Roadster Coupe 2.0-litre 25th Anniversary Limited Edition hits the showrooms in August and, to ensure its limited run status, just 1,000 individually numbered examples will be built.

Crucially, in a testament to Britain's enduring love affair with open-topped motoring 750 units will be made available to UK customers, with number one being unveiled at this year's Goodwood Festival of Speed on June 26-29.

Mazda has added a generous level of standard kit to the limited edition car, which is based on the current Roadster Coupe 2.0-litre Sport Tech Nav variant.

Furthermore, there's no chance of mistaking this MX-5 for any other thanks to its model-unique Soul Red Metallic paint finish. Brilliant Black door mirrors and A-pillars complete the look.

First revealed to the public on February 9 at the 1989 Chicago Auto Show, Mazda's MX-5 was a surprise hit. Reintroducing a category of vehicle that had become all but extinct by the early 70s, it was a popular choice and far outstripped the company's own sales predictions.

When global production reached 531,890 units in May 2000, the MX-5 was certified by Guinness World Records as the world's bestselling two-seater sports car in history. Since then, total global production passed the 900,000 mark in February 2011 and the Guinness certification was updated.

Charities to benefit from Two Counties Motor Show

THE Two Counties Motor Show organisers, the Lions Group, have announced that the two local charities it will be supporting at this year's show, to be held at Rowley Mile Racecourse in Newmarket on Sunday, June 29, are Street Sports and Headway Cambridgeshire.

Over its 13-year history the annually-run motor show has raised over £110,000 for local charities, and again this year it pledges to donate all its profits to supporting those in need.

Street Sports is a community youth sports project, run by the charity Anglian Community Leisure. Established in 2010, it currently operates initiatives in Newmarket, Red Lodge, Mildenhall and Brandon and was originally set up to support Suffolk Police in reducing antisocial youth behaviour.

Since its inception it has run more than 900 sessions and welcomed more than 18,800 participants in coach-led programmes in various sports, including football, basketball and dodgeball. All the programmes are funded by charitable donations, grants and independent fundraising – see acstreetsports.com for more information.

Event has raised £110k in its 13-year history

The second of the nominated charities, Headway Cambridgeshire, provides specialist services and support to people who have suffered brain injury, as well as their families and carers. Founded in 1989, the charity works across the county to enable independent living and help people to achieve their potential in spite of their injuries. Former Formula 1 driver Mark Blundell has just been announced as the charity's ambassador, and the money raised at this year's Two Counties Motor Show will go a long way to helping people to regain control of their lives. For more information or support, please see headway-cambs.org.uk.

The motor show has helped numerous local charities over the years:

- In 2013, the Lions Group donated £3000 to Suffolk Young Carers, enabling a wide range of activities for its members, such as a trip to Thorpe Park, a Christmas bowling party for 82 members and a recent trip to Bury St Edmunds-based Curve Motion. In the same year they also donated an additional £1500 to PHAB (Physically Disabled and able-bodied), based at the Hester Adrian Centre, Cambridge.

- In 2012 it nominated the SPICE Guides to receive funding, supporting all-inclusive Girl Guide activities for girls with moderate to complex learning and special needs, based around Newmarket and Cambridge. Highlights included a trip to Disneyland Resort Paris, and the Christmas Sleepover – probably the most popular event of the year, and made entirely possible by the funding raised by the Two Counties Motor Show.

- Other local charities supported in past years include the St Nicholas Hospice, among others.

A spokesperson for the Lions Group, Eddie Hatfield, said: "We love to share the information about how the funding is spent because it is all thanks to the people who come to our show, the visitors and exhibitors, that we can help these charities. The money raised is changing local lives, and we want to hear suggestions for which charities people would like to see supported in the future. So please get in touch and tell us your ideas!"

The Two Counties Motor Show runs from 9.30am-4pm on Sunday, June 29 at Newmarket Racecourse, and offers a wide range of family attractions, as well as a stellar line-up of new and vintage cars and motorbikes.

Rovers building for future with academy

HAVERHILL Rovers have entered teams in the Eastern Junior Alliance (EJA) for next season as part of their plans to develop their own academy.

The Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division side are keen to develop their own players capable of playing in the first team and have entered sides at under-13, under-14 and under-18 level into the EJA.

Plans are in place to enter teams at other age groups as well and Rovers chairman Ali Shulver believes it is vital if the club are to progress.

"These EJA teams really do fit in with the vision I have for Haverhill Rovers Football Club and what I explained at our AGM last week," said Shulver.

"This club needs to look to develop its own talented players for the first team but also look to ensuring that any player can play at the highest possible level.

"With finances always tight at this level it's equally important to the first team to have home grown talent. To do this we want a top coaching team and managers that buy into the ethos.

"First team manager Dean Greygoose will be getting involved with training and keeping a close eye on our progress too."

The EJA is widely considered to be one step below the level professional clubs' academy sides play at and features teams from the region such as Royston, Cambridge City, Bury Town, Chelmsford City and Bishop's Stortford.

Rovers have already had players move up through their youth development pathway into Thurlow Nunn under-18s Youth League, Premier Division and on into Ryman League such as Charlie Henry, Ryan Henshaw and, most recently, Jack Wilkinson.

The club are also seeking coaches with a minimum of FA Level Two and the FA Youth coaching awards. Howard Group have agreed to sponsor the team and others are also being sought.

Any players who would like a trial should contact the relevant age group's manager. For the under-13s it is Robin Glover on 07889 234833 or rovers@ejafootball.com, for the under-14s it is Alan Boddey on 07985 800290 or alanboddey@tiscali.co.uk, and the under-18s it is Shulver on 07967 278071 or alastair.shulver@matthey.com

Meanwhile, Haverhill Borough have managed to retain the services of several of their squad.

Top Scorer Ryan Weaver, captain Ross Elkins, Aaron Forshaw, Paul Hunt, Tom Coombe, Ryan Geoghegan, Craig Cutts and Martin Westcott have all agreed to stay on for Borough's second Thurlow Nunn League, Division One season.
